Tanya Leighton is thrilled to present 'Between the Pages' – its latest online viewing room featuring brand new paintings, photographs, videos and sculptures by a selection of artists from the gallery's programme.

'Between the Pages' invokes the idea of the bookmark and points to the act of creating aide-mémoires as a deeply human need to render the ephemeral concrete – a site to which the subject can always return. The selected works re-call quotidian moments or vast epochs that contemplate life's transitory and fragile nature. Whether embodied by newsprint articles, archival photographs, mementos or meticulous charts, these works serve as invitations to newly orient ourselves in time. 'Between the Pages' thus meditates on the potentials of "an active relationship to time, one where it becomes a boundless field of possibility".
